Gundo Evolution latest Update Bulletin and Year End Close – December 2025Dear Valued Customer,

Thank you for your ongoing support throughout this year. It has been a challenging period across the construction segments; however, your partnership has been both encouraging and inspiring. Your support has strengthened our grit and resilience, enabling us to confidently expand into additional markets.

We are pleased to announce the launch of the Gundo Evolution Automotive Segment, which offers a comprehensive range of industrial oils, lubricants, and coolants. This addition enhances our ability to serve you across multiple operational needs with reliable quality and competitive pricing.

We are also excited about the rollout of our e-commerce platform, designed to extend our reach and provide convenient self-service options for our customers. Our online store remains the home of better pricing and improved accessibility.
